

With many of the world's largest oil and petrochemical companies located in her hometown, Helen Frink wondered why the money wasn't finding its way to the Baton Rouge schools and infrastructure in Corporate Welfare: Where's the Outrage?.