

In Corporate Welfare: Where's the Outrage?, Pete Eshelman, owner of Joseph Decius Restaurant, The Farmstead and The Inn at Joseph Decuis, describes his experience fighting government policy: "It went from the worst form of government...to an example how government works."