

This field of European nuclear plant cooling towers highlights a major complication in Germany's quest to turn its back on coal and other fossil fuels. Citing the full-on disasters at Fukushima and Chernobyl, Germany is deliberately pulling the plug on nuclear.