

School Inc. tells the story of students from the American Indian Public Charter School and how the attitudes of their teachers affect the choices they make in the classroom and how that leads to student success.